Post 10/22/66

U.S. Crewmen Of Crashed DC-4 To Face Trial

Reuters

YAOUNDE, Cameroun, Oct. 21—The four crew members of a four-engine DC-4 plane which crashed in North Cameroun ten days ago will be brought before a court here, it was officially announced today.

The government said three of the crew members were American citizens and the fourth an Italian. Their names were not immediately disclosed.

The government said in a statement the four men will be charged with breaking various laws, including overflying the country without authority.